

The Road to the Rostow Cup

AP Human Geography Fantasy Development League

The Road to the Rostow Cup is just like a fantasy sports league, but instead of drafting players that will score points based on athletic performance, you will be drafting countries that will score points based on their level of development. Below is a sample of how this will look and how the scoring is based.

Team: We're Gonna Kick Your Djibouti

Country	GDP	GDP per Capita	Life Expectancy	Literacy Rate	IMR	NIR	TFR
Crusader Nation	$57 billion	$27,000	74.6	98.7%	8	1.2	2.7

Team: We'll Toponym Ya Over

Country	GDP	GDP per Capita	Life Expectancy	Literacy Rate	IMR	NIR	TFR
Macomberville	$84 billion	$23,000	72.3	99.3%	9	1.4	2.4

SCORING:

For categories GDP-Literacy Rate, you want the higher number, for categories IMR-TFR you want the lower number. For each category that you beat your opposing country position, you earn a point. The above line-ups from above are displayed below with the scoring categories for each team being highlighted in bold font.

Macomberville	$84 billion	$23,000	72.3	99.3%	9	1.4	2.4

For this country category, Crusader Nation outscored Macomberville by a score of 4-3. In the game, you will have an entire line-up of countries from different categories which will be scored head-to-head like the example above. The team that has most overall points will win and advance to the next round.

SAMPLE LINE UP:

Displayed below is what your line-up will look like for each game. The flex position can have a country from any category in it. Note that you will need a maximum of three line-ups to advance to/win the championship, however, a country can only be used once in the tournament. This means that each of your line-ups will be completely different.
